

DIAMOND

INTERNATIONAL GALLERIES

Collectibles fall under four principal categories
Art, Premiums/Giveaways, Toys, and Comics.
This catalog is organized according to these classifications.

Please Note: Condition and/or scarcity (when determined) precede the price of each item.

ART

Five types of collectible art are Animation Art, Comic Strip Art, Comic Book Character Art, Limited Editions, and Re-creation Art. This category also includes posters and prints.

Animation Art refers to the drawings and paintings created for the production of an animated motion picture. Original animation art is divided into four recognizable categories:

- Story Art refers to sketches created in the earliest developmental stages of production. Usually rendered on paper or board, these provided animators with a blueprint for the final production.
- Animation Drawings are individual pencil-on-paper drawings of an animated character.
- Cels are color paintings of cartoon characters, rendered on celluloid (or "cel") acetate. Long before the advent of photocopying or computer animation, these paintings were created by hand as inkers traced each of the animators' original drawings onto the cel, then painted those drawings and photographed them. (Often, these cels were washed after they were photographed, then reused, making the earliest of these true finds!)
- Backgrounds are paintings on heavy paper or illustration board. These provided the setting in which the animated characters interacted.
